

'LIVING THROUGH FAITH' THEME OF LEAGUE'S WAR SESSIONS HERE

Gathering with the general feeling that this is the last general convention of the Women's League of Gettysburg college for the duration of the war, members of branch leagues from many parts of Pennsylvania and nearby states attended the opening session of the thirty-first annual meeting of the league this morning in Weidensall hall on the college campus.

Mrs. Joseph B. Baker, York, formerly of Gettysburg, president of the general league, presided with the opening devotions in charge of Mrs. C. A. Neal of the Chambersburg league. Her topic was the theme of the convention, "Victorious Living Through Faith." She based her remarks on a passage from Ephesians 3:13.

Reports Attendance
Mrs. Henry T. Bream, Gettysburg, presented the report of the credentials committee showing 20 officers, 14 delegates and 86 visitors in attendance but that total of 120 was raised during the morning. The credentials committee will report again this afternoon. Attendance today was nearly normal and well above expectations in view of transportation problems, officers said.

The formal address of welcome was given by Mrs. Henry W. A. Hanson and was responded to by Mrs. R. L. Yund of the Camden league.

Discusses SCA Purpose
As secretary of the Student Christian Association on the campus, Prof. Donald R. Helges discussed the five-fold purpose of the SCA and characterized the students as they are affected by the war effort. He said the SCA strives to 1) mediate the sense of the reality of God; 2) insist that moral obligations are more and not less binding during war than peace; 3) uphold the dignity of human nature and the implications of Christian love; 4) maintain an inclusive fellowship in the SCA; and 5) stimulate clear thinking on war aims and the basis for a just and durable peace.

Robert W. Koons, student president of the SCA, and Helen E. Mondorf, vice president, discussed emphases and activities of the SCA.

Committee Appointments
The annual roll call of leagues was omitted at this morning meeting for lack of time.

Mrs. Baker announced these committee appointments just before adjournment at noon:

Officers' reports—Mrs. Clay E. Rice, Lancaster; Mrs. W. E. Swope, Lebanon; and Mrs. G. W. Kurtz, Delaware county.

Resolutions—Mrs. C. B. Stover, Gettysburg; Mrs. J. Frank Fife, Baltimore; and Mrs. Mary Rohrbach, Altoona.

Reporter to the Lutheran, Miss Grace Fuhrman, Baltimore; Lutheran Women's Work, Mrs. T. Benton Perry, and The Gettysburgian, Mrs. T. M. Mallin, York.

Banquet Hour Changed
The afternoon meeting was advanced to 2 o'clock from 2:30 and it was announced this morning that the hour of the banquet this evening in Huber hall has been moved forward to 5:30 o'clock instead of 6 o'clock as was announced previously.

Reports, special music and the opening of the Golden Honor book for men and women in the service of the United States will feature this afternoon's program. The election of officers also is set for this afternoon.

The final convention session will be held Friday morning at 9 o'clock when new officers will be installed.

Interest Centers On Congressional Vote

Attention of voters in the 22nd congressional district of Adams, Franklin and York counties will be focused on the official count of the vote cast at Tuesday's election for the purpose of final determination of the close contest for congressman.

Unofficial tabulations give Chester H. Gross, a Republican, a lead of 167 votes over the incumbent, Harry L. Haines, Democrat. Both are from York county.

A York newspaper reported today that Congressman Haines claimed an additional 90 votes from a district in Waynesboro. Verification of this report could not be made in Waynesboro or Chambersburg today by The Gettysburg Times.

At his home in Red Lion, Congressman Haines said late Wednesday "he would not concede the election to Mr. Gross at this time."

Ballots from soldiers will not be counted until ten days after this election.

Auto, Bicycle Quotas Lowered

Philadelphia, Nov. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvanians who qualify may purchase 2,000 automobiles and 7,755 bicycles during November, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

The automobile quota is 10 per cent and the bicycle quota 20 per cent below October quotas.

There are 215 autos and 1,712 bicycles held in reserve for counties where emergency needs might arise.

The Adams county quota is five automobiles and 30 bicycles.

RURAL DRIVE FOR SCRAP IS MOVING AHEAD

The first two days of the Cross Roads scrap drive in rural Adams county—being conducted by the Adams Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Gettysburg—netted 24,161 pounds of scrap, it was announced today by O. H. Benson, county salvage chairman. The drive opened Monday under the direction of C. A. Cluck, Cooperative superintendent.

Mr. Benson also announced that Morris Gittlin, Gettysburg junk dealer, has collected and purchased 339 tons of scrap during the month of October, bringing his total scrap purchases for the first ten months of this year up to within 50 tons of an even 2,000 tons. Gittlin's total for the year of 1942 will be over 2,000 tons and will represent more than 100 pounds per person from each man, woman and child in the county.

Commends Countians
The Bendersville-Aspers-Wenksville area salvage committee headed by Dale Crum as chairman has reported a total of 37 tons of scrap metal and rubber collected and delivered during the October salvage drives.

Announcing the achievement of this upper county area, County Chairman Benson said: "The Bendersville fire company led by its president, C. D. Bream, gave outstanding cooperation and practical help in the drive. These members of the company furnished trucks and gave personal assistance: George Shriver, Lloyd Orner, Donald Garretson and Parker Kuntz."

Mrs. Verna Starmer, the teacher, and the pupils of the Mt. View school near Mt. Tabor collected several tons of scrap, Mr. Benson said.

There also were collected in the Bendersville - Aspers - Wenksville area 300 pounds of household fats, 3,000 pounds of scrap rubber and 100 pounds of rags, Mr. Benson said. A thorough drive was made in the area. Much of the scrap was bought and paid for but some was donated and later was sold for $37.

At the next committee meeting it will be decided what use will be made of this money. More scrap is available in the community, committee members say, and will be gathered as soon as business places, industries and farmers find time to release it so that it may become useful in the war effort.

Reporters to the Lutheran, Miss Grace Fuhrman, Baltimore; Lutheran Women's Work, Mrs. T. Benton Perry, and The Gettysburgian, Mrs. T. M. Mallin, York.

SCHOOL BUSES NEED WAR FORMS

The attention of school bus drivers and the owners of non-licensed trucks was directed today by local authorities to the necessity for securing Certificates of War Necessity for their vehicles before November 15 if they expect to use the buses and trucks after that date.

J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools, sent a letter today to all school bus drivers and secretaries of school districts which operate school buses, calling attention to the contents of a letter he has just received from Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction.

The state school head states that no school bus can be operated after November 15 unless the driver carries with him a Certificate of War Necessity, which can be secured from the Office of Defense Transportation at Detroit. Bus owners who have not received the necessary application form should get in touch with the office of the superintendent of schools by Saturday of this week, Mr. Slaybaugh wrote.

Harrison F. Snyder, chairman of the county War Board, said today that owners of non-licensed trucks should go to the War Board office promptly for applications to be filed with the branch office of the ODT at Hagerstown upon which the Certificates of War Necessity can be issued. Without the certificates, these trucks cannot be used after November 15, he said.

MORE STUDENTS IN 'AG' CLASSES

Enrollment in the vocational agriculture department of Adams county high schools and in Future Farmers of America chapters in most of those schools show increases over the figures at the close of the last school year, it was disclosed following the November meeting of the vocational "ag" supervisors on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Webb, East Berlin.

Tabulation of enrollment figures for eight high schools showed 254 vocational students as compared with 244 last May and 192 F.F.A. members in five county chapters as compared with 182 in May.

In the following list the figure listed first indicates the number of "ag" students and the second refers to the number of F. F. ## British Rout Axis In Desert Fight

Allies Make New Gains In Guadalcanal, New Guinea

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Persistent battering of the Japanese by land and air gave American and Allied fighters fresh ground gains today in besieged Guadalcanal and New Guinea.

Further widening an attempted Japanese vise that threatened to close on the American-held airfield in Guadalcanal, United States Marines and soldiers forced back the enemy's western flank, capturing about 20 machine guns and two small field artillery pieces in the process.

5 BOYS FINED FOR ROWDYISM

Five youths from near East Berlin were fined $5 and costs each by Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore following a series of hearings that lasted nearly two hours on Wednesday evening after the defendants had entered pleas of not guilty to disorderly conduct charges brought by several of the 25 special police officers named by Burgess Birdes A. Jacobs of East Berlin in an effort to break up rowdyism in East Berlin during the last month.

The defendants were Kurvin Burdard, 19, East Berlin R. 3; Philip Roser, 20, Dover R. 2; John Moul, 21, East Berlin R. 2; Harold Swope, 18, East Berlin R. 1; and Harrison Horn, 19, East Berlin R. 2. Burdard and Roser had been arrested early last Sunday morning and the others were taken into custody subsequently and released on their own recognizance.

All of the arrests were made by three state motor policemen from Gettysburg who were called to East Berlin when the special officers were unable to break up the epidemic of car racing, horn blowing, auto backfiring and noisy gatherings on street corners that had been going on for a month but reached its climax on Halloween.

Burgess Jacobs and a half dozen of the special police officers testified at the hearings with Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., appearing as counsel for the East Berlin borough. The defendants did not have counsel. Burgess Jacobs said that actions of 18 other young people of the community are under investigation and that other arrests may follow.

7,000 Americans Arrive In Egypt

Cairo, Nov. 5 (AP)—The arrival of 7,000 American troops and a large unit of nurses in the land of the Pharaohs on Halloween night was disclosed for publication last night.

The troops formed the largest body of American soldiers ever sent to the Middle East in one transport and they made the long voyage from New York without the loss of a single man.

They included a variety of technically trained specialists, ground crewmen for United States air force units, machinists, engineers and members of the Quartermaster corps, the Medical corps, the Signal corps and Ordnance, Hospital and Postal men.

REDS BREAK UP Foe's Salient In Stalingrad

Moscow, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Russians have broken up all the latest Nazi efforts to expand the invasion salient in northern Stalingrad and, in some places, have forced the Germans to abandon several basic points, dispatches said today.

While bitter attacks and counterattacks developed about the ruined Volga river city, Red Army troops were credited with local gains north-west of Stalingrad, on the Black sea front and in the Mordok sector of the central Caucasus.

A successful Soviet holding action was indicated before the Caucasian slopes and passes southeast of Nalchik.

Invicta said the battle of Stalingrad was characterized by a growing maneuverability of Red Army units. Observers stressed the heaviness of the German attacks, however, and at least one point they threw in a new division. There were many hand-to-hand clashes. The latest German loss reported was 1,000 slain yesterday.

The Nazi air force bombed the city's defenses steadily in support of the ground operations. There have been several hundred flights in the last few days.

As German bombers flew over the ruins in groups of three to 15 a Soviet garrison force broke up repeated ground drives toward the factories, dispatches from Stalingrad said.

"In the southern sector of the city's defenses 140 Germans were wiped out," the noon communique said. "Soviet troops destroyed an enemy artillery battery, 10 machine-guns and three mortars."

The Army newspaper Red Star was authorized for the statement that the Germans had lost thousands of dead in their newest futile attack.

INDUCTEES LEAVE NOV. 17

The 30 young men who were accepted for military service at Harrisburg on Tuesday from Draft Board No. 2 of Adams county have been notified that the bus which will take them to Baltimore on November 17 will leave Gettysburg at 9:20 a. m. ## GIVES BAIL FOR COURT

Italians Admit Severe Losses; George VI Lauds Soldiers

Other Allied Offensives

London, Nov. 5 (AP)—The defeat of Marshal Rommel's armies in Egypt will be followed by other Allied offensives which will give relief to the embattled Russians, Sir Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal, told an audience of war workers today.

"This is not the only diversion we can or shall make to help our Russian allies," Sir Stafford, former ambassador to Moscow, declared. "As our strength and that of our American allies builds up other offensives will be started in other areas."

He said the Eighth army was "destroying German and Italian land and air forces which might otherwise be joining in the attack on the Soviet armies."

Axis In Full Flight

Cairo, Nov. 5 (AP)—Weakened by the loss of thousands of men captured, killed, wounded or isolated in their desert strongpoints, a once-proud Axis army was in full flight today across western Egypt in a frantic hunt for position to avert destruction.

Only a rear-ward moving screen of anti-tank guns and tanks shielded the bulk of Marshal Rommel's African corps from the pressing advance of a United Nations army—the Eighth British—while a comparatively impotent air force sought to parry the combined blows of American and British Imperial airmen.

WORST AXIS DEFEAT OF WAR

By The Associated Press

The worst Axis defeat of the war was shaping on the sands of north Africa today.

With the British in swift pursuit, Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken armies were reported fleeing westward across the Egyptian desert amid wild confusion, and early unofficial estimates placed Axis losses at 40,000 troops killed, wounded or captured.

Front-line dispatches said 9,000 Axis prisoners had been taken, including Gen. Ritter Von Thoma, commander of the German north Africa corps, and 260 tanks knocked out of action.

George VI Congratulates 8th Army
To the victorious British 8th Army, King George VI sent a message declaring that the importance of their feat "cannot be exaggerated."

Italian field headquarters tersely acknowledged that German and Italian troops had withdrawn to new lines after violent dawn-to-dusk tank battles yesterday, and added:

"Our losses have been severe."

The Fascist war bulletin said the collision of armored forces raged over the desert between El Alamein and Fuka.

Fuka lies 70 miles west of the old El Alamein front.

The Berlin radio likewise conceded that Axis troops "have been withdrawn to a prepared second line."

Nazis Disclaim Breach

Nazi broadcasts insisted, however, that "there can be no talk of a breach of the German-Italian front" by British troops and asserted that despite British superiority in numbers, Axis troops were putting up the "fiercest" resistance.

"Rommel still has plenty of room on his chessboard and can move as he likes," Nazi quarters said.

"The master of desert strategy has often in critical situations dealt dangerous blows at the enemy."

In contrast to the German whistling-in-the-dark, the British command reported these hard facts of the 13-day-old campaign: 260 Axis tanks destroyed; 600 enemy planes wrecked or captured; 50,000 tons of enemy shipping sunk; another 50,000 tons damaged; and Gen. George Von Stumme, Rommel's second in command, killed in action.

May Be Turning Point
In London, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, declared the developing rout of Hitler's African forces might provide "the turning point in this war."

The British radio hammered the story home to the peoples of Germany, Italy and the conquered countries with broadcast after broadcast in many tongues.

Dispatches from Greece said the

British Chase Rommel's Broken African Armies

British Rout Axis In Desert Fight

Allies Make New Gains In Guadalcanal, New Guinea

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Persistent battering of the Japanese by land and air gave American and Allied fighters fresh ground gains today in besieged Guadalcanal and New Guinea.

Further widening an attempted Japanese vise that threatened to close on the American-held airfield in Guadalcanal, United States marines and soldiers forced back the enemy's western flank, capturing about 20 machine guns and two small field artillery pieces in the process.

In New Guinea, westward of the Solomon islands, Allied troops under Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Australian command overcame "strong enemy resistance" and plunged on through the jungles toward the Japanese coastal base at Buna.

The Navy reported the continued American advances in Guadalcanal last night. Supported by Army and Navy planes that strafed and bombed the Nipponese troops and positions, the United States forces

5 BOYS FINED FOR ROWDYISM

Five youths from near East Berlin were fined $5 and costs each by Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore following a series of hearings that lasted nearly two hours on Wednesday evening after the defendants had entered pleas of not guilty to disorderly conduct charges brought by several of the 25 special police officers named by Burgess Birdes A. Jacobs of East Berlin in an effort to break up rowdiness in East Berlin during the last month.

The defendants were Kurvin Burgard, 19, East Berlin R. 3; Philip Roser, 20, Dover R. 2; John Moul, 21, East Berlin R. 2; Harold Swope, 18, East Berlin R. 1, and Harrison Horn, 19, East Berlin R. 2. Burgard and Roser had been arrested early last Sunday morning and the others were taken into custody subsequently and released on their own recognizance.

All of the arrests were made by three state motor policemen from Gettysburg who were called to East Berlin when the special officers were unable to break up the epidemic of car racing, horn blowing, auto backfiring and noisy gatherings on street corners that had been going on for a month but reached its climax on Halloween.

Burgess Jacobs and a half dozen of the special police officers testified at the hearings with Franklin R. Bigham, Esq., appearing as counsel for the East Berlin borough. The defendants did not have counsel.

Burgess Jacobs said that actions of 18 other young people of the community are under investigation and that other arrests may follow.

DONATES QUININE STOCK

7,000 Americans Arrive In Egypt

Cairo, Nov. 5 (AP)—The arrival of 7,000 American troops and a large unit of nurses in the land of the Pharaohs on Halloween night was disclosed for publication last night.

The troops formed the largest body of American soldiers ever sent to the Middle East in one transport and they made the long voyage from New York without the loss of a single man.

They included a variety of technically trained specialists, ground crewmen for United States air force units, machinists, engineers and members of the Quartermaster corps, the Medical corps, the Signal corps and Ordnance, Hospital and Postal men.

Palestine Welcomes American Troops

REDS BREAK UP Foe's SALIENT IN STALINGRAD

Moscow, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Russians have broken up all the latest Nazi efforts to expand the invasion salient in northern Stalingrad and, in some places, have forced the Germans to abandon several basic points, dispatches said today.

While bitter attacks and counterattacks developed about the ruined Volga river city, Red Army troops were credited with local gains northwest of Stalingrad, on the Black sea front and in the Mozdok sector of the central Caucasus.

A successful Soviet holding action was indicated before the Caucasian slopes and passes southeast of Nalchik.

Investia said the battle of Stalingrad was characterized by a growing maneuverability of Red Army units.

Observers stressed the heaviness of the German attacks, however, and at least one point they threw in a new division. There were many hand-to-hand clashes. The latest German loss reported was 1,000 slain yesterday.

The Nazi air force bombed the city's defenses steadily in support of the ground operations. There have been several hundred flights in the last few days.

As German bombers flew over the ruins in groups of three to 15 a Soviet garrison force broke up repeated ground drives toward the factories, dispatches from Stalingrad said.

"In the southern sector of the city's defenses 140 Germans were wiped out," the noon communique said. "Soviet troops destroyed an enemy artillery battery, 10 machine-guns and three mortars."

The Army newspaper Red Star was authority for the statement that the Germans had lost thousands of dead in their newest futile attack.

Italians Admit Severe Losses; George VI Lauds Soldiers

Other Allied Offensives

London, Nov. 5 (AP)—The defeat of Marshal Rommel's armies in Egypt will be followed by other Allied offensives which will give relief to the embattled Russians, Sir Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal, told an audience of war workers today.

"This is not the only diversion we can or shall make to help our Russian allies," Sir Stafford, former ambassador to Moscow, declared. "As our strength and that of our American allies builds up other offensives will be started in other areas."

He said the Eighth army was "destroying German and Italian land and air forces which might otherwise be joining in the attack on the Soviet armies."

Axis In Full Flight

Cairo, Nov. 5 (AP)—Weakened by the loss of thousands of men captured, killed, wounded or isolated in their desert strongpoints, a once-proud Axis army was in full flight today across western Egypt in a frantic hunt for position to avert destruction.

Only a rear-guard moving screen of anti-tank guns and tanks shielded the bulk of Marshal Rommel's African corps from the pressing advance of a United Nations army—the Eighth British—while a comparatively impotent air force sought to parry the combined blows of American and British Imperial airmen.

WORST AXIS DEFEAT OF WAR

By The Associated Press
The worst Axis defeat of the war was shaping on the sands of north Africa today.

With the British in swift pursuit, Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's broken armies were reported fleeing westward across the Egyptian desert amid wild confusion, and early unofficial estimates placed Axis losses at 40,000 troops killed, wounded or captured.

Front-line dispatches said 9,000 Axis prisoners had been taken, including Gen. Ritter Von Thoma, commander of the German north Africa corps, and 260 tanks knocked out of action.

George VI Congratulates 8th Army

To the victorious British 8th Army, King George VI sent a message declaring that the importance of their feat "cannot be exaggerated."

Italian field headquarters tersely acknowledged that German and Italian troops had withdrawn to new lines after violent dawn-to-dusk tank battles yesterday, and added:

"Our losses have been severe." The Fascist war bulletin said the collision of armed forces raged over the desert between El Alamein and Fuka.

Fuka lies 70 miles west of the old El Alamein front.

The Berlin radio likewise conceded that Axis troops "have been withdrawn to a prepared second line."

Nazis Disclaim Breach

Nazi broadcasts insisted, however, that "there can be no talk of a breach of the German-Italian front" by British troops and asserted that despite British superiority in numbers, Axis troops were putting up the "fiercest" resistance.

"Rommel still has plenty of room on his chessboard and can move as he likes," Nazi quarters said. "The master of desert strategy has often in critical situations dealt dangerous blows at the enemy."

In contrast to the German whistling-in-the-dark, the British command reported these hard facts of the 13-day-old campaign: 260 Axis tanks destroyed; 600 enemy planes knocked out of action; 370 Axis guns wrecked or captured; 50,000 tons of enemy shipping sunk; another 50,000 tons damaged, and Gen. George Von Stumme, Rommel's second in command, killed in action.

May Be Turning Point

In London, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, declared the developing rout of Hitler's African forces might provide "the turning point in this war."

The British radio hammered the story home to the peoples of Germany, Italy and the conquered countries with broadcast after broadcast in many tongues.

Dispatches from Greece said the

MARTIN TACKLES JOB OF PLANNING WAR-TIME RULE

(By The Associated Press)

Harrisburg, Nov. 5 — Governor-Elect Edward Martin tackled the job of planning his war-time leadership of the arsenal state today after a hurried trip here from his Washington, Pa., home for conferences with Governor James and other governmental executives.

The tall, lean, 63-year-old World War hero, refreshed after only a few hours sleep, resumed his work early and had little to say immediately beyond the statement:

"I'll be busy. We've got to get things moving because of the war effort. It takes time, you know."

"The Democrats will help me, too," he added, referring to the Republican legislative majority assured him by the GOP's sweep in Tuesday's general election.

Observers pointed out that the Republican victories were insufficient to provide the two-thirds Senate majority necessary for the confirmation of executive appointments.

G. O. P. Rules House

The same lack of Republican power has confronted James for two years. His appointments of Commissioner Lynn G. Adams of the State Motor police and Chairman John M. McKee of the Milk Control commission have lacked confirmation, but never have been rejected because Republicans, controlling committees, have kept the appointments from coming to a vote.

Republicans now have a 30-18 margin in the new Senate with two races still in doubt and with no chance of reaching the 34 majority. A complete turnover in the House, however, gave Republicans 130 seats against 77 for Democrats. The lineup previously was 126 Democrats to 82 Republicans.

No wholesale turnover of state civil service employees was expected in January because Martin, like James, is an organization Republican. The Governor-Elect will be the first organization Republican to succeed an organization Republican in the Executive Mansion since 1918.

Pledged National Support

Martin had pledged himself to support the Democratic national administration "in every proper measure" for the conduct of the war and Republican leaders were elated over the GOP's recapture of a majority in the state's delegation to the U. S. House.

The Republicans emerged from the Congressional elections with an 18-14 edge. The present delegation has 17 Democrats and 16 Republicans. All of the state's 14 Republican Congressmen were reelected, weathering Democratic attacks on their pre-Pearl Harbor isolationist records. In addition four new GOP Congressmen were named.

One of the veterans, J. William Ditter, chairman of the National Republican Congressional committee, viewed the gains as indicating "a public demand for greater efficiency and less politics by the National Administration in the prosecution of the war."

"The election is a challenge to the Republicans in the House," he declared last night. "I know that challenge will be met by a whole-souled devotion to duty and by a grim determination to leave nothing undone for . . . victory."

1st Congressman-at-Large

William I. Troutman, Shamokin, Northumberland county, Republican, joins the delegation at the state's first Congressman-at-Large in 18 years. He defeated Miss Inez B. Peel, Pittsburgh Democrat, only a woman candidate for a state-wide

BRITISH CHASE

Germans were frantically rushing three or four divisions from the Russian front in an attempt to reinforce Rommel's battered legions. Four trainloads of Nazi troops were said to have passed through Athens en route to embarkation points.

Official British dispatches said the Axis was "in full flight," with the smoking hulks of Axis tanks littering the desert and the Mediterranean coastal highway choked with wrecked trucks, armored cars and motor transport.

American Tanks Help

Allied fliers told of enemy troops "scattering like cockroaches" as British and American warplanes flew low over the battlefield, bombing and machine-gunning the dazed Axis armies.

Dispatches said the Italians had asked for a truce in one sector in order to bury their dead.

More than half of Rommel's tanks were reported to have been destroyed in the climactic break-through as Lieut.-Gen. B. L. Montgomery's Army bolstered by American-made General Grant and General Lee tanks, rolled back the Axis line beyond El Alamein, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

Advance Continues

Cairo, Nov. 5 (AP)—British headquarters announced today that the Eighth Army continued to advance along the whole Egyptian front yesterday in pursuit of retreating Axis forces.

The bulletin declared that enemy units were still holding out in "a few isolated positions" on the southern end of the front but declared that in the north a screen of tanks and anti-tank guns was withdrawing slowly before the British advance.

The sudden collapse of the Axis defenses was announced last night in a British communique after 12 days of furious fighting in which the Allies were said to have taken a tremendous toll of Rommel's men and equipment.

Allied planes kept the retreating Axis forces under heavy attack and the dwindling air force at Rommel's command was kept strictly on the defensive. Except for one dive-bombing attack, which was quickly broken up by Allied fighters, the British ground forces were unopposed from the air.

Intent on keeping reinforcements from reaching Rommel, Allied bombers and torpedo carrying planes also blasted at his overseas supply lines, damaging a tanker and a heavily laden merchant vessel and scoring three hits on escorting destroyers, the communique said.

The British reported the destruction of 13 Axis aircraft yesterday and acknowledged the loss of 14 Allied planes, but the Allied losses were relatively small in proportion to the number of planes engaged on both sides.

Rommel Needs Reserves

While the announcement did not reveal the full extent of the Allied advance, unofficial advices from the front indicated that British Imperial forces were advancing rapidly on El Daba, site of an important enemy air base 35 miles west of El Alamein, springboard of the current offensive.

Observers said that Rommel's chances of making a stand depended largely on the amount of reserves he might have massed at such strategic points as Matruh, Halfaya pass and Salum—all of which boast well fortified positions. The defeat which the British suffered last summer, however, when they were driven back deep into Egypt, showed the difficulties of organizing an effective defense and halting a retreat under overwhelming pressure.

(Dispatches from Turkey quoted advices from Greece as saying that the Germans were rushing three or four divisions from the Russian front to Africa in an attempt to reinforce Rommel. Four trainloads of Nazi soldiers were said to have passed through Athens enroute to embarkation points.)

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—A CBS broadcast from Cairo said today that Lieut. Gen. B. L. Montgomery sent the following message yesterday to his British eighth army: "The enemy is in our power and he is just about to crack. I call on all troops to keep up the pressure and not to relax for one moment. We have the chance of putting the whole panzer army in the bag and we will do so. Complete victory is almost in sight."

Greer Garson To Wed Ensign Ney

Hollywood, Nov. 5 (AP)—Ensign Richard Ney, who was Greer Garson's son in the movie "Mrs. Miniver," will become her husband. The wedding will be at the actress' Bel-Air home over the week-end.

In applying for a marriage license at Santa Monica yesterday, Miss Garson said she was 31 and Ney gave his age as 29.

Ney, a former New York stage actor, received his Navy commission October 29 and is on a two weeks' furlough, so their honeymoon will be brief. It will be the second marriage for each.

Twelve Maroon Players In Final Grid Game At Mechanicsburg Friday Night

LAST VICTORY OVER FRIDAY FOE IN 1938

Gettysburg high school will ring down the curtain on its 1942 football campaign Friday evening when it meets Mechanicsburg high on the latter's field in a Southern Pennsylvania interscholastic conference game. The kickoff is slated for 8 o'clock.

Regardless of the outcome of the game the present campaign will go down as one of the most successful in many seasons for the Forney-men. The Maroons have already captured six of seven games and will be gunning for their fourth straight victory on Friday.

If past performances may be taken as a criterion the game this week will be a real dog-fight. The Forney-men whipped Mechanicsburg 7-0 in 1938 and the next year played to a 6-6 tie. In 1940 Mechanicsburg eked out a 6-0 and last year walloped the locals 20-0.

A victory will definitely clinch second place in the South Penn loop for the locals and in the event Hanover is defeated in its remaining games with Hershey and Waynesboro would establish the Maroons as conference champions.

No less than 12 players will be making their final appearance in Maroon and White gridiron togs.

Heavy Player Loss

Those who are seniors include Ross Sachs, Don Wickerham and Don Oyler, backs; Fred Plank, center; John Mitchell, guard; Sebastian Hafer and Clarence Swinn, tackles; Jimmy Spahr end, and William Shryock, substitute tackle. In addition to the seniors Max Sherman, fullback; Donald Gorman, guard, and Arthur Odbert, end, will be ineligible next season.

The Maroons are in excellent condition for their final game. During the week the team has gone through drills with unusual zip as though in full realization of the tough assignment facing it.

Mechanicsburg has lost but one game this season, a 6-0 decision to undefeated Hanover. Hershey and New Cumberland were played to standstills. The Maroon and Gray eleven crushed Waynesboro 21-0 and last week won over Scotland 20-12.

Probable Lineups
Mechanicsburg will probably stick to its regular lineup which will include Stewart, former Chambersburg high star, and Dixon, ends; Rider and Fertenbaugh, tackles; R. Rupp and Koser, guards; M. Rupp, center; Bowers, quarterback; Engle and Keet, halfbacks, and Fleagle, fullback.

Coach Forney is expected to start Spahr and Odbert at ends; Hafer and Swinn, tackles; Mitchell and S. Weaver, guards; Plank, center; Sachs, quarterback; Oyler and Wickerham, halfbacks, and Sherman, fullback.

In other league games Friday night Hershey will play at Hanover and Chambersburg will play at Carlisle.

Biglerville Scrubs Play Here Friday

Coach Fred Haehlen's Gettysburg high jayvees will seek their first football victory of the season here Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Biglerville high school reserves will be met.

The Maroons lost their first two games 30-0 and 14-0 to the Hanover high junior varsity.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Herb (how I tried to get that kid) Kopf, Manhattan's football coach, puts forth what sounds like a sensible explanation for all the grid upsets this season. . . . Herb claims that the mental attitude of the players is responsible for 90 per cent of such surprises; that a team gets just the incentive it needs to win when it's in a position to gain the glory that goes with knocking off a favorite and that a "break" early in a game can affect the outcome a lot more than most people think. . . . This year, Kopf reasons, "upsets" are more likely to occur than usual because of the youth of the players. . . . Squads are loaded up with sophomores and freshmen, who are more easily affected than players who have been through the mill.

HEADLINE HEADLINER

When the Cardinals' Whitey Kurowski made a political speech in New Britain, Conn., the other night, sports ed. Bill Harding of the New Haven Journal-Courier scribbled off this head: "Kurowski fattens blattling average."

SERVICE DEPT.

The Army won't have to worry about Pvt. Bill Gerlach of Lapeer, Mich., and Camp Blanding, Fla., remaining cool when he gets under fire. . . . A crack bowler, Pvt. Bill was rolling a match against H. A. Manassa at Starke, Fla., recently. After he had hit 270 for nine frames, Manassa announced to the crowd that Gerlach was trying for a perfect game, and Bill came right through with three more strikes.

Looks as if Cincinnati Reds' farm clubs were all at sea. Frank Lane, who captured the chain, went into the Navy last spring and now his successor, Freddie Fleig, has received a Navy lieutenant's commission. . . . From Quantico, Va., Marine Lieut. Jim "All-America" Hackett reports that Lieut. Dick Fishell, "hero" of the Dartmouth-Cornell five downs incident a few years ago, finds some difference between football and war. . . . "They give you only one down here," says Dick, "and they don't want ten yards. They want a touchdown."

G-BURG ELEVEN EXPECTS BISONS TO USE AERIALS

Pass defense is being emphasized this week by Gettysburg's Bullets in view of reports that the Bucknell university football team will take to the air Saturday in an effort to upset the Battlefields.

So far this season, the Orange and Blue has been rather successful in stopping enemy aerial attacks, but Coach Hen Bream is taking no chances with the accurate array of Bucknell tossers. Gettysburg has high respect for the throwing arms of such lads as Chet Podd, Johnny Paar, Al Magagna and "Red" Johnson.

The Breamites will also be on the lookout for the Bucknellians' quick changes from a single wingback to a modified "T" formation. The Orange and Blue got a taste of "T" last week in the Drexel clash, and considerable time is being spent on stopping up the holes that appeared in defense against the system.

Subs to Play
It is expected that Saturday will see an abundance of substitutions for the Gettysburgians. Coach Hen Bream has become convinced that certain combinations work better on the offense while others elicit better defense on the defense.

This means that such ball-toters

SPORT SHORTS

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Although he will be giving away a ten-pound weight edge, Ray Robinson is a 5 to 12 favorite to hang up his 33th consecutive professional victory when he fights Vic Dellecort at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. The odds-makers figure Ray's speed, hitting power and boxing will be too much for Vic, although Dellecort's forcing style may give Ray some trouble.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 5 (AP)—The Coast Guard comes first, so Lew Jenkins won't fill his two fight dates on the west coast. Jenkins, who became a coastguardsman last month and now is awaiting the call for active service, had a November 13 bout. He was to have met the winner of Friday's fight between Al Spina and Andrea Sarilla. Also dropped was a proposed bout matching Jenkins with Henry Armstrong, one time owner of three world's boxing championships.

as Joe Powers, 9.8 dash man from Haverford, and Bill Florsheim, broken-field specialist from Woodbury, New Jersey, who have been kept under wraps most of the year, will probably see action.

The name of Liberia, Negro republic in Africa, was suggested in 1824 by Robert G. Harper of Baltimore.

HUNTERS ARE WARNED ABOUT DISEASED GAME

Harrisburg, Nov. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania hunters were advised today to avoid shooting lazy small game or carry an ample supply of soap and disinfectant.

The reason: Rabbits and other animals which present too easy a mark probably are victims of tularemia, or rabbit fever, easily contracted by human beings when they handle skins or dress infected carcasses.

Seth Gordon, executive director of the state game commission, said there had been no reports of the disease this season but added "we have had some cases in the past and we will probably have some in the future."

Dr. Joseph P. Hidenour, director of student health service at the Pennsylvania State college, said carcasses should not be touched with bare hands. He recommended "liberal use of soap and water, followed by applications of disinfectant" to remove blood or other infected material even if rubber gloves are worn. Thorough soaking will make the meat harmless.

The disease is transmitted by tree squirrels, opossums, skunks, coyotes, ground hogs, muskrats, deer and red fox as well as rabbits.

FANS DISAGREE OVER ABILITY OF TWO PASSERS

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—New York football fans, inclined in the past to scorn teams that build their attacks on passing as mere players of "gridiron basketball," are in the midst of a red hot argument over passing. And they'll get a chance to decide for themselves this week-end when Notre Dame plays Army and Columbia faces Colgate.

The dispute over the relative passing ability of Notre Dame's Angelo Bertelli and Columbia's Paul Governali arose a few days ago when an Army coach told the local scribes that Army considered Bertelli the best passer in the country—far better than Governali. He made out a good case on Angelo's ability to toss them long or short and hit his receivers, but Coach Lou Little of Columbia took exception.

"I'm not saying Bertelli isn't the best," said Lou, "but if he's better than Governali I'd be greatly surprised." Little also has some figures to back up his contention. In six games, pitching Paul has tried 111 passes and completed 56 for a 50.5 average and total gain of 1,024 yards. And he's done this with a line that doesn't afford him much protection.

Bertelli, much better protected, has gained only 621 yards on 40 com-

F. And M. To Have New Cage Coach

Lancaster, Pa., November 5—Thomas J. Floyd, athletic trainer and former coach of the freshman basketball team, will coach the varsity quintet at Franklin and Marshall college this winter, college officials announced today. He succeeds John Shober Barr, former cage mentor and assistant professor of physical education, who has become director of admissions and Dean of Freshmen. Three times during his career as coach, Barr developed Eastern Collegiate Athletic conference champions.

Floyd is a native of Philadelphia and worked under Lawson Robertson at the University of Pennsylvania before coming to this city. Franklin and Marshall college will play nine basketball games this winter and hold athletic travel to a minimum.

Then, too, there will be another passer around Saturday who might overshadow both. Louisiana State's Sophomore Alvin Dark, who will be in there against Fordham as long as his injured knee will let him, is a better than fair hand at pitching a football. Dark is a real triple-threat, but because of his injury he can't do much but pass this week.

Off the records, such passers as Georgia's Frankie Sinkwich, Ray Evans of Kansas, Tommy Mont of Maryland and Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa may be better than any of these three, but the local fans aren't including them in the argument. None of those fellows is scheduled to play around here this season.

That isn't all the story, of course, for Little adds that he considers Governali a better passer than Sid Luckman was at the same stage of his career. He compares him with Sammy Baugh for poise and balance and ability to toss while running and without getting set.

Look Out for Wartime Constipation!

Lack of "bulk" one of common causes

Don't be surprised if you feel all bogged down these war days! Look at how you live! Longer hours, harder work, irregular meals—your whole way of living's been upset. Specially eating habits. Meals are apt to be hurried, improperly balanced—and the important matter of bulk neglected.

And lack of "bulk" is one of the common causes of constipation! Medicinal laxatives give only temporary relief because they don't get at the cause.

The answer to this kind of trouble is drinking plenty of water and eating a crisp, golden cereal — KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. For this delicious breakfast food supplies the needed "bulk," corrects the cause. Why not start eating ALL-BRAN yourself? Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

He was to have met the winner of Friday's fight between Al Spina and Andrea Sarilla. Also dropped was a proposed bout matching Jenkins with Henry Armstrong, one time owner of three world's boxing championships.

HUNTERS ARE WARNED ABOUT DISEASED GAME

Harrisburg, Nov. 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania hunters were advised today to avoid shooting lazy small game—or carry an ample supply of soap and disinfectant.

The reason: Rabbits and other animals which present too easy a mark probably are victims of tularemia, or rabbit fever, easily contracted by human beings when they handle skins or dress infected carcasses.

Seth Gordon, executive director of the state game commission, said there had been no reports of the disease this season but added "we have had some cases in the past and we will probably have some in the future."

Dr. Joseph P. Ridenour, director of student health service at the Pennsylvania State college, said carcasses should not be touched with bare hands. He recommended "liberal use of soap and water, followed by applications of disinfectant" to remove blood or other infected material even if rubber gloves are worn. Thorough soaking will make the meat harmless.

The disease is transmitted by tree squirrels, opossums, skunks, coyotes, ground hogs, muskrats, deer and red fox as well as rabbits.

FANS DISAGREE OVER ABILITY OF TWO PASSERS

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—New York football fans, inclined in the past to scorn teams that build their attacks on passing as mere players of "gridiron basketball," are in the midst of a red hot argument over passing. And they'll get a chance to decide for themselves this week-end when Notre Dame plays Army and Columbia faces Colgate.

The dispute over the relative passing ability of Notre Dame's Angelo Bertelli and Columbia's Paul Governali arose a few days ago when an Army coach told the local scribes that Army considered Bertelli the best passer in the country—a far better than Governali. He made out a good case on Angelo's ability to toss them long or short and hit his receivers, but Coach Lou Little of Columbia took exception.

"I'm not saying Bertelli isn't the best," said Lou, "but if he's better than Governali I'd be greatly surprised." Little also has some figures to back up his contention. In six games, pitching Paul has tried 111 passes and completed 56 for a 505 average and total gain of 1,024 yards. And he's done this with a line that doesn't afford him much protection.

Bertelli, much better protected, has gained only 621 yards on 40 completions out of 86 attempted passes for a pitching average of 465.

That isn't all the story, of course, for Little adds that he considers Governali a better passer than Sid Luckman was at the same stage of his career. He compares him with Sammy Baugh for poise and balance and ability to toss while running and without getting set.

Then, too, there will be another passer around Saturday who might overshadow both, Louisiana State's Sophomore Alvin Dark, who will be in there against Fordham as long as his injured knee will let him, is a better than fair hand at pitching a football. Dark is a real triple-threat, but because of his injury he can't do much but pass this week.

Off the records, such passers as Georgia's Frankie Sinkwich, Ray Evans of Kansas, Tommy Mont of Maryland and Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa may be better than any of these three, but the local fans aren't including them in the argument. None of those fellows is scheduled to play around here this season.

F. And M. To Have New Cage Coach

Lancaster, Pa., November 5—Thomas J. Floyd, athletic trainer and former coach of the freshman basketball team, will coach the varsity quintet at Franklin and Marshall college this winter, college officials announced today. He succeeds John Shober Barr, former cage mentor and assistant professor of physical education, who has become director of admissions and Dean of Freshmen. Three times during his career as coach, Barr developed Eastern Collegiate Athletic conference champions.

Floyd is a native of Philadelphia and worked under Lawson Robertson at the University of Pennsylvania before coming to this city.

Franklin and Marshall college will play nine basketball games this winter and hold athletic travel to a minimum.

Look Out for Wartime Constipation!

Lack of "bulk" one of common causes

Don't be surprised if you feel all bogged down these war days! Look at how you live! Longer hours, harder work, irregular meals—your whole way of living's been upset. Specially eating habits. Meals are apt to be hurried, improperly balanced—and the important matter of bulk neglected.

And lack of "bulk" is one of the common causes of constipation! Medicinal laxatives give only temporary relief because they don't get at the cause.

The answer to this kind of trouble is drinking plenty of water and eating a crisp, golden cereal — KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. For this delicious breakfast food supplies the needed "bulk," corrects the cause. Why not start eating ALL-BRAN yourself? Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

MARTIN TACKLES Social Happenings

JOB OF PLANNING WAR-TIME RULE

(By The Associated Press)
Harrisburg, Nov. 5 — Governor-elect Edward Martin tackled the job of planning his war-time leadership of the arsenal state today after a hurried trip here from his Washington, Pa., home for conferences with Governor James and other governmental executives.

The tall, lean, 63-year-old world war hero, refreshed after only a few hours sleep, resumed his work early and had little to say immediately beyond the statement:

"I'll be busy. We've got to get things moving because of the war effort. It takes time, you know."

"The Democrats will help me, too," he added, referring to the Republican legislative majority assured him by the GOP's sweep in Tuesday's general election.

Observers pointed out that the Republican victories were insufficient to provide the two-thirds Senate majority necessary for the confirmation of executive appointments.

G. O. P. Rules House
The same lack of Republican power has confronted James for two years. His appointments of Commissioner Lynn G. Adams of the State Motor police and Chairman John M. McKee of the Milk Control commission have lacked confirmation, but never have been rejected because Republicans controlling committees have kept the appointments from coming to a vote.

Republicans now have a 30-18 margin in the new Senate with no chance of reaching the 31 majority. A complete turnover in the House, however, gave Republicans 130 seats against 77 for Democrats. The lineup previously was 126 Democrats to 82 Republicans.

No wholesale turnover of state civil service employees was expected in January because Martin, like James, is an organization Republican. The Governor-elect will be the first organization Republican to succeed an organization Republican in the Executive Mansion since 1918.

Martin had pledged himself to support the Democratic national administration "in every proper measure" for the conduct of the war and Republican leaders were elated over the GOP's recapture of a majority in the state's delegation to the U. S. House.

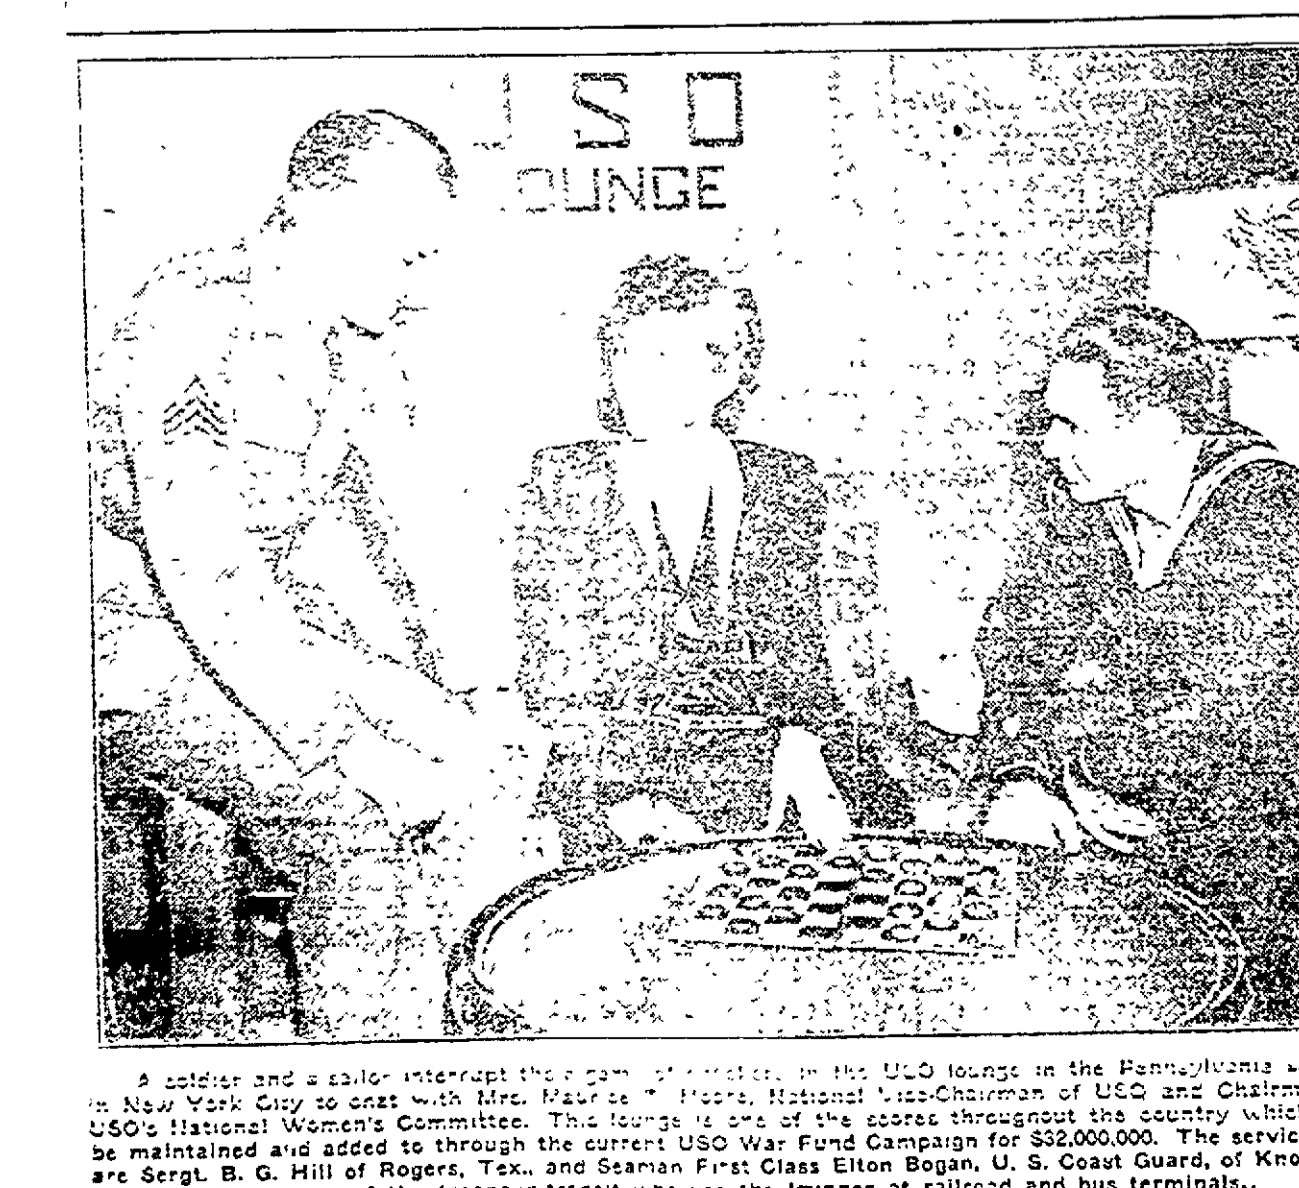

The Republicans emerged from the Congressional elections with an 18-14 edge. The present delegation has 17 Democrats and 10 Republicans. All of the state's 14 Republican Congressmen were reelected, weathering Democratic attacks on their pre-Pearl Harbor solutions to records. In addition four new GOP Congressmen were named.

One of the veterans, J. William Ditter, chairman of the National Republican Congressional committee, viewed the gains as indicating "a public demand for greater efficiency and less politics by the National Administration in the prosecution of the war."

"The election is a challenge to the Republicans in the House," he declared last night. "I know that challenge will be met by a wholehearted devotion to duty and by a grim determination to leave nothing undone for a victory."

William I. Thompson, Shamokin, Northumberland county, Republican, joins the delegation at the state's first Congressional-at-Large in 18 years. He defeated Mrs. Inez B. Reed, Pittsburgh Democrat, only a narrow margin of the same city. Republican vote for a 1st district seat 28,744 to 19,822.

Mrs. Myers, delegate to the recent meeting of synod held at York, gave a report on that session.

It was announced that Mrs. Louise Hoffman and Russel Spangler had been appointed to the board as representatives of the adult Bible classes.

Mrs. H. S. Fox stated that the church had been requested to furnish 50 field communication kits for Army and Navy use and 26 have been purchased so far. Each kit costs $55 and it was decided to ask the church school to help in the purchase of a kit by taking a special offering on November 15.

The annual Christmas program will be held on the night of December 20 and will include the White Gift Service.

The school will this year continue its annual practice of assembling fifteen minutes before the regular time each Sunday during Advent to sing Christmas hymns. The regular Christmas party for Beginners and Primary departments will be held this year and in addition a party will be given for the Junior department on December 18.

An Evening Thought

It is of no consequence of what parents any man is born, so that he be a man of merit.—Horne.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Quest

REPRISALS

"Two hundred executed more!"

Old men, old women, girls and boys!

The gentle folk who lived next door.

The children at their toys!

"Four hundred thousand killed,"

they say.

Since first this dreadful war began,

Just for refusing to betray

And send to death a fellow man.

There was a village whole wiped out.

Its every little house knocked flat.

Though war at best is hell, I doubt

It calls for cruelty like that.

And this I wonder when at last

Peace soothes this troubled world

again,

How those with such a vicious past

Will dare to pose as gentlemen.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

DIGGING IN

In an address which Dr. William

Oster gave before the students of the University of Edinburgh, some

20 years ago, he said: "Man can do

a great deal of observation and

thinking, but with them alone he cannot unravel the mysteries of Nature."

Then the great Doctor went on to explain how, through experimentation and careful research, man had been able to solve many of these mysteries and been able to add to the health, greater efficiency, and happiness of mankind.

It is not enough to look about

one, and to do a deal of thinking—

action, and digging in, must be done. For nearly a century Thomas

Edison was continually digging in—

into the mysteries of science and

Nature; and through that long career of his he brought immeasurable benefits to the human race

—benefits that spread all over the earth.

And now, during this tragic and crucial war, men and women are digging in as never before. They are learning anew about the essentials of life; and through the farm,

the laboratory, and any number of experimental stations, are learning

and discovering new methods and means by which peoples and nations can meet the emergencies of the hour.

If this cannot be made into a better world, after all the tragic sacrifices that are now being made all over the globe, then this war will have been fought in vain.

It's digging in to a problem that solves it. Putting one's thought,

well as all of one's energy. Nothing

of any consequence can come out

by enthusiasm, and heart into it, as easy strokes and unplanned methods. It's the digging in—deeper and deeper—until the light appears and new revelations result.

Whoever thought that the weeds

along the roadside, or the husks of many a harvest, could some day

be put to valuable, and life-saving food and to the efficient use of the many phases of business and commerce? The very air that we breathe is being used in combination with other elements!

Vision is being born anew in minds all over the world. Let us hope and pray that it will forever

put an end to all war—substituting love for hate!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk

on the subject: "An Anchorage."

Democrats Lose Working Control Of The Congress

NEW ATTITUDE
MAY DEVELOP
TOWARD WAR

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—For

political legislative purposes, the

New Deal lost control of Congress

in Tuesday's elections although the Democratic party maintained a bare majority with 218 House seats and a larger margin in the Senate with 56 members.

While late returns in a few closely contested races held the possibility of slight increases in these majori-

ties, there remained little doubt that Republicans and anti-New

Deal Democrats could control legislation in either body any time they chose to unite.

This was especially true in the House, where the 208 seats already clinched by the Republicans gave

them their largest representation

since the last days of the Hoover

administration in 1931. The bloc of

Democratic members who often vote

against New Deal proposals there

is such that a coalition could effect

a substantial working majority of any controversial legislation.

Democrats Name 15 Senators

In the Senate, the Democrats

elected 15, to combine with 41 hold-

overs for a total of 56, seven above

the 49 necessary for control. They appeared likely to make their total

57 since Senator James E. Murray,

Democrat, was leading his Republican opponent, Wellington D. Rankin, in Montana.

This possible eight-vote margin

for the Democrats, however, would leave the out-and-out new dealers

in the minority any time five or a dozen or more majority party members who have been critical of administration policies elected to go along with a solid Republican lineup on some issue.

The effect of this realignment was expected to result in sharpening

Congress' critical attitude toward

conduct of the war, its possible rejection of any more social reform

legislation for the duration, and the

strengthening of demands for stricter legislative control of the operations of such agencies as the office of price administration.

President Roosevelt might well

meet the changed situation by acting more frequently in an executive

capacity, instead of setting in motion the relatively slower and less certain legislative machinery.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Nov. 5.—The Allied triumph in Egypt gives strong hope that we are witnessing the beginning of the not far distant end to Hitler's hold on north Africa.

The Nazi air-highness also is having visions of disaster for Berlin claims a "remarkable concentration" of British warships and transports at Gibraltar.

The Vichy government is reported to be holding conferences about north Africa and from Rear Admiral Lutetow of the German naval staff we get this:

"Casablanca, on French Morocco's west coast, is a danger spot far overshadowing Dakar."

"Africa swarms with United States agents whose gaze turns to Casablanca."

Caution Is Needed
Is Hitler conjuring up bugbears to torture his sleep? He will know in due course and so shall we. Meantime, it is a most comfortable feeling to see him worry.

We must temper our natural optimism with caution because there is hard and bitter work to be done before the Axis armies are annihilated. That is the task before us—the destruction of Hitler's fighting machine in all northern Africa.

Once before we had our dreams when Wavell drove defeated enemy columns far to the westward across the desert.

But the Axis still was strong then and the Allies weak. Indeed, just at the crucial moment, Wavell had to rush troops off to the defense of Greece, thereby depriving him of a chance to follow up his victory.

Now, however, the Hitlerites are weaker and the Allies much stronger. The Nazi chief and his minions are on the down grade.

Certainly the forces under Gen. Sir Harold Alexander must be jubilant as they pursue and hammer what a British communique described as the "disordered columns" of the enemy. When you talk about "disordered columns" in retreat you are talking about a "rout," which is one of the greatest disasters that can befall an army.

Axis Casualties Heavy
Axis casualties already have been heavy. These must be climbing rapidly as the shell-shocked German and Italian soldiers retreat across the blazing sands which themselves greedily soak up the lives of those who falter or are wounded.

Enemy losses in material also have been mountainous and probably the heaviest individual blow dealt Hitler has been in the destruction of tanks. As I pointed out yesterday, these racing fortresses have been the backbone of Rommel's striking power.

The Nazi marshal was estimated to have 500 tanks when the offensive started. Now the British communique tells us that 260 of these have been destroyed.

This would mean that more than half of the Axis tanks in the field have been wiped out. Many more must be falling by the wayside as American and British airmen continue their devastating hail of bombs on straggling lines along the edge of the great military highway which skirts the Mediterranean.

The communique also records that 300 Axis planes have been destroyed or damaged in the air and a like number on the ground. Many of the damaged planes will, of course, have to be abandoned as the Axis forces retreat.

This probably means that a minimum of half of Rommel's air fleet has been destroyed. The likelihood is that the figure is near three-quarters.

Mediterranean Domination at Stake
That is a colossal blow, especially since the Anglo-American aerial fleet already had superiority in the air before disaster dropped on Rommel's head from the skies.

Elimination of the Axis from north Africa would alter the complexion of the European war.

Restoration of British domination over the Mediterranean area would remove a threat to the strategic middle east.

It might easily result in the complete collapse of Italy.

It would vastly strengthen Spain's position of neutrality and this would ease a situation which has been a constant worry to the Allies.

No wonder the fuhrer's boasted intuition is making him see pink elephants. As a matter of fact, it looks as though his intuition might be on the right track this time.

Chapter 15

THE D. A. SPEAKS

There wasn't much said to Todd at the house that week-end. Just the expected, "tough going, fella. . . forget it—we'll murder Purdue next week. . ."

They were all loosely general in their sincere attempts to show they were still on his side.

One of the papers called it "pressure of other events," in describing his letdown against Vanderbilt. It was an effort at smoothing things over that was as subtle as a punch in the nose.

Lake, the detective, dropped in Sunday. "Just out of curiosity," he explained, and where had Todd been those last few days?

"Just visiting," Todd told him bluntly. "Want an hour-by-hour report?"

"Only if it's interesting enough," Lake replied mildly, "but never mind. And incidentally, do you think you could pay the district attorney a 'visit Tuesday afternoon? He'd like to see you."

"I'm sure I'd be delighted," Lake picked up his hat. "Tea will be served promptly at three o'clock."

Politics.

Bill Gardner rapped for order at the regular Monday night chapter meeting.

"Now that we've got old business out of the way I'm going to call on Brother Dunlap for a report from the house political committee."

Jim Dunlap stood up and leaned against the wall. "This is it. A survey of the situation looks pretty good for the Maroon Combine this year. We've picked up three new houses that are jumping over from the Stater party. Although they've got us 20 houses to 18 our combined membership beats them by more than 50. That, of course, leaves a lot up to the independent vote, which means that in the month between nominations and elections we'll have some work ahead of us—and I mean work."

He looked down at some notes in his hand. "The committee is ready to recommend our party candidates. Incidentally, we have pretty good assurances that at least one of the two men we are putting up will be accepted at the party caucus two weeks hence."

"We recommend Don Boyd for junior class president and Todd Malone for senior vice-president."

Todd's somewhat wandering mind was brought up with a jerk. "What the—?" he said. Eddie grinned.

"We'll permit a short discussion on the committee's recommendation," Gardner said.

Todd was the first one on his feet. "The choice of Brother Boyd is an obvious and a good one," he said. "But I must ask the committee to withdraw my name. I'm honored, but—"

"I don't think it's a wise choice," Eddie jumped up and got the floor. "I don't agree with Brother Malone. I'm sure everyone here feels the same way and I think we should insist that he uphold our confidence in him."

It dawned on Todd then. These last few words Eddie spoke were the keynote of the whole thing. It was their way of telling him a lot of things.

"You guys are wonderful," he said simply, "and I appreciate it, but I don't have to be an experienced politician to know that my name would never be accepted at the combine caucus in the light of recent events."

Delos Crawford, a round-faced junior and well-liked by every-one waved for the floor. "I don't like to break the decorum of the meeting, Mr. Chairman, but the hell with events."

Crawford's comment brought on a sleigh of whistling and foot-stomping. "I guess that'll hold you," Eddie told Todd.

"Can I have until the caucus to make up my mind?" Todd pleaded. "There are a number of things I want to consider."

"Well—" said Dunlap. "Until the day before the caucus meeting. That means a week from next Sunday."

No Clue

Detective Sergeant Lake opened the door ahead of Todd and admitted him to the district attorney's office.

"Here's Malone. Mr. Hinton," Lake announced.

Peter Hinton, district attorney, glanced at Todd keenly, waved him to a chair. "How do you do, Malone. Sit down."

Todd sat down. Lake dragged up a chair next to him, and Hinton leaned back in his swivel chair and lit a pipe.

"You look bigger in street clothes than you do on the football field," he observed irrelevantly.

"I guess I do," Todd admitted mildly. Hinton puffed on his pipe a couple of times and leaned forward.

"Malone, it's really a shame that the best quarterback in State history should have had all the trouble you've had. And now I want to tell you you're in the clear at this time. Outside of that one unfortunate statement you made here, nothing on which we can hold you."

"That doesn't mean we're dropping the case where it is, however. The coroner is convinced Humphries was murdered by a blow on the head and that there was a slight struggle in that laboratory. And we just don't allow university professors to get themselves murdered without bending every effort to track down the killer."

"I hope not," Todd said.

"So, the only reason I called you in today is to tell you that as far as this office is concerned—Hinton paused and smiled—"you can start playing the kind of football we're used to getting from you."

For the first time in a long time Todd allowed himself the luxury of a grin. "Thanks. I'll get you a touchdown with your name on it. Saturday."

When Todd had left Hinton drummed nervous fingers on his desk. "Lake, we've simply got to make some headway on this thing. I want you to spend every hour of your time on this case."

"Check with everyone who knew Humphries well. Check Humphries' correspondence, whatever you can find of it, and see what visitors he's

SALES VOLUME DOWN 4 P.C. IN RETAIL STORES

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Dollar sales volume at independent retail stores in Pennsylvania in September, 1942, fell 4 per cent below the level of September, 1941, the Census Bureau reported today.

September sales increased 6 per cent, however, over the August volume. The nine-month average for 1942 was about the same as for the corresponding period of 1941.

A Pennsylvania report said most merchandise stores showed substantial sales gains for September, 1942, over the same month a year ago.

J. C. Capt, director of the bureau, said sales by restaurants, cafeterias, and lunch rooms increased 28 per cent; dry goods and general merchandise stores, 22 per cent; shoe stores, 21 per cent; drug stores, 19 per cent; general stores, 17 per cent; and food stores, 16 per cent. Department store sales rose 3 per cent.

Filling stations showed sales down

had at his quarters. Don't overlook a thing."

"Spend some time with Dr. Stephen Coulter. Humphries was his pride and joy. He might be able to reveal something of Humphries' private life that might furnish a clue. If he does tell us the first decent one we have," he added gloomily.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

London, Nov. 5.—The Allied triumph in Egypt gives strong hope that we are witnessing the beginning of the not far distant end to Hitler's hold on north Africa.

The Nazi high-ghost also is having visions of disaster for Berlin claims a "remarkable concentration" of British warships and transports at Gibraltar.

The Vichy government is reported to be holding conferences about North Africa and from Rear Admiral Lutewitz of the German naval staff we get this:

"Casablanca, on French Morocco's west coast, is a danger spot far overshadowing Dakar.

"Africa swarms with United States agents whose gaze turns to Casablanca."

Caution Is Needed

Is Hitler conjuring up bugbears to torture his sleep? He will know in due course and so shall we. Meanwhile, it is a most comfortable feeling to see him worry.

We must temper our natural optimism with caution because there is hard and bitter work to be done before the Axis armies are annihilated. That is the task before us—the destruction of Hitler's fighting machine in all northern Africa.

Once before we had our dreams when Wavell drove defeated enemy columns far to the westward across the desert.

But the Axis still was strong then and the Allies weak. Indeed, just at the crucial moment, Wavell had to rush troops off to the defense of Greece, thereby depriving him of a chance to follow up his victory.

Now, however, the Hitlerites are weaker and the Allies much stronger. The Nazi chief and his minions are on the down grade.

Certainly the forces under Gen. Sir Harold Alexander must be jubilant as they pursue and hammer what a British communiqué described as the "disordered columns" of the enemy. When you talk about "disordered columns" in retreat you are talking about a "rout," which is one of the greatest disasters that can befall an army.

Axis Casualties Heavy

Axis casualties already have been heavy. These must be climbing rapidly as the shell-shocked German and Italian soldiers retreat across the blazing sands which themselves greedily soak up the lives of those who falter or are wounded.

Enemy losses in material also have been mountainous and probably the heaviest individual blow dealt Hitler has been in the destruction of tanks. As I pointed out yesterday, these racing fortresses have been the backbone of Rommel's striking power.

The Nazi marshal was estimated to have 500 tanks when the offensive started. Now the British communiqué tells us that 260 of these have been destroyed.

This would mean that more than half of the Axis tanks in the field have been wiped out. Many more must be falling by the wayside as American and British airmen continue their devastating hail of bombs on straggling lines along the edge of the great military highway which skirts the Mediterranean.

The communiqué also records that 300 Axis planes have been destroyed or damaged in the air and a like number on the ground. Many of the damaged planes will, of course, have to be abandoned as the Axis forces retreat.

This probably means that a minimum of half of Rommel's air fleet has been destroyed. The likelihood is that the figure is nearer three-quarters.

Mediterranean Domination at Stake

That is a colossal blow, especially since the Anglo-American aerial fleet already had superiority in the air before disaster dropped on Rommel's head from the skies.

Elimination of the Axis from north Africa would alter the complexion of the European war. Restoration of British domination over the Mediterranean area would remove a threat to the strategic middle east.

It might easily result in the complete collapse of Italy. It would vastly strengthen Spain's position of neutrality and this would ease a situation which has been a constant worry to the Allies.

No wonder the Fuehrer's boasted intuition is making him see pink elephants. As a matter of fact, it looks as though his intuition might be on the right track this time.

Chapter 15

THE D. A. SPEAKS

There wasn't much said to Todd at the house that week-end. Just the expected, "tough going, fella . . . forget it—we'll murder Purdue next week. . . ."

They were all loosely general in their sincere attempts to show they were still on his side.

One of the papers called it "pressure of other events," in describing his letdown against Vanderbilt. It was an effort at smoothing things over that was as subtle as a punch in the nose.

Lake, the detective, dropped in Sunday. "Just out of curiosity," he explained, and where had Todd been those last few days?

"Just visiting," Todd told him bluntly. "Want an hour-by-hour report?"

"Only if it's interesting enough," Lake replied mildly, "but never mind. And incidentally, do you think you could pay the district attorney a visit Tuesday afternoon? He'd like to see you."

"I'm sure I'd be delighted," Lake picked up his hat. "Tea will be served promptly at three o'clock."

Politics

Bill Gardner rapped for order at the regular Monday night chapter meeting.

"Now that we've got old business out of the way I'm going to call on Brother Dunlap for a report from the house political committee."

Jim Dunlap stood up and leaned against the wall. "This is it. A survey of the situation looks pretty good for the Maroon Combine this year. We've picked up three new houses that are jumping over from the State party. Although they've got 20 houses to 18 our combined membership beats them by more than 50. That, of course, leaves a lot up to the independent vote, which means that in the month between nominations and elections we'll have some work ahead of us—and I mean work."

He looked down at some notes in his hand. "The committee is ready to recommend our party candidates. Incidentally, we have pretty good assurances that at least one of the two men we are putting up will be accepted at the party caucus two weeks hence."

"We recommend Don Boyd for junior class president and Todd Malone for senior vice-president."

Todd's somewhat wandering mind was brought up with a jerk. "What the—?" he said, Eddie grinned.

"We'll permit a short discussion on the committee's recommendation," Gardner said.

Todd was the first one on his feet. "The choice of Brother Boyd is an obvious and a good one," he said. "But I must ask the committee to withdraw my name. I'm honored, but—" He paused, groping for a way to voice his thought, "but I don't think it's a wise choice."

Eddie jumped up and got the floor. "I don't agree with Brother Malone. I'm sure everyone here feels the same way and I think we should insist that he uphold our confidence in him."

It dawned on Todd then. These last few words Eddie spoke were the keynote of the whole thing. It was their way of telling him a lot of things.

"You guys are wonderful," he said simply, "and I appreciate it, but I don't have to be an experienced politician to know that my name would never be accepted at the combine caucus in the light of recent events."

Delos Crawford, a round-faced junior and well-liked by every-one waved for the floor. "I don't like to break the decorum of the meeting, Mr. Chairman, but the hell with events."

Crawford's comment brought on a siege of whistling and foot-stomping. "I guess that'll hold you," Eddie told Todd.

"Can I have until the caucus to make up my mind?" Todd pleaded. "There are a number of things I want to consider."

"Well—," said Dunlap. "Until the day before the caucus meeting. That means a week from next Sunday."

No Clue

Detective Sergeant Lake opened the door ahead of Todd and admitted him to the district attorney's office.

"Here's Malone, Mr. Hinton," Lake announced.

Peter Hinton, district attorney, glanced at Todd keenly, waved him to a chair. "How do you do, Malone. Sit down."

Todd sat down. Lake dragged up a chair next to him, and Hinton leaned back in his swivel chair and lit a pipe.

"You look bigger in street clothes than you do on the football field," he observed irrelevantly.

"I guess I do," Todd admitted mildly. Hinton puffed on his pipe a couple of times and leaned forward.

"Malone, it's really a shame that the best quarterback in State history should have had all the trouble you've had. And now I want to tell you you're in the clear at this time. Outside of that one unfortunate statement you made there's nothing on which we can hold you."

"That doesn't mean we're dropping the case where it is, however. The coroner is convinced Humphries was murdered by a blow on the head and that there was a slight struggle in that laboratory. And we just don't allow university professors to get themselves murdered without bending every effort to track down the killer."

"I hope not," Todd said. "So, the only reason I called you in today is to tell you that as far as this office is concerned—" Hinton paused and smiled—"you can start playing the kind of football we're used to getting from you."

For the first time in a long time Todd allowed himself the luxury of a grin. "Thanks, I'll get you a touchdown with your name on it, Saturday."

When Todd had left Hinton drummed nervous fingers on his desk. "Lake, we've simply got to make some headway on this thing. I want you to spend every hour of your time on this case."

"Check with everyone who knew Humphries well. Check Humphries' correspondence, whatever you can find of it, and see what visitors he's

SALES VOLUME DOWN 4 P.C. IN RETAIL STORES

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Dollar sales volume at independent retail stores in Pennsylvania in September, 1942, fell 4 per cent below the level of September, 1941, the Census Bureau reported today.

September sales increased 6 per cent, however, over the August volume. The nine-month average for 1942 was about the same as for the corresponding period of 1941.

A Pennsylvania report said most non-durable goods showed substantial sales gains for September, 1942, over the same month a year ago. J. C. Capt, director of the bureau, said sales by restaurants, cafeterias, and lunch rooms increased 28 per cent; dry goods and general merchandise stores, 22 per cent; shoe stores, 21 per cent; drug stores, 19 per cent; general stores, 17 per cent, and food stores, 16 per cent. Department store sales rose 3 per cent.

Filling stations showed sales down

had at his quarters. Don't overlook a thing.

"Spend some time with Dr. Stephen Coulter. Humphries was his pride and joy. He might be able to reveal something of Humphries' private life that might furnish a clue. If he does it'll be the first decent one we have," he added gloomily.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

REPRISALS
"Two hundred executed more!"
Old men, old women, girls and boys!
The gentle folk who lived next door.
The children at their toys!"Four hundred thousand killed,"
they say.
Since first this dreadful war began,
Just for refusing to betray
And send to death a fellow man.There was a village whole wiped out.
Its every little house knocked flat.
Though war at best is hell, I doubt
It calls for cruelty like that.And this I wonder when at last Peace soothes this troubled world
again,
How those with such a vicious past
Will dare to pose as gentlemen.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

DIGGING IN

In an address which Dr. William Oder gave before the students of the University of Edinburgh, some 20 years ago, he said: "Man can do
a great deal of observation and
thinking, but with them alone he cannot unravel the mysteries of Nature."Then the great Doctor went on to explain how, through experimentation and careful research, man had been able to solve many of these mysteries and been able to add to the health, greater efficiency, and happiness of mankind.It is not enough to look about
one, and to do a deal of thinking—
action, and digging in, must be done. For nearly a century Thomas Edison was continually digging into the mysteries of science and Nature; and through that long career of his he brought immen-surable benefits to the human race
—benefits that spread all over the earth.And now, during this tragic and crucial war men and women are digging in as never before. They are learning anew about the essentials of life; and through the firmness, laboratory and any number of experimental stations, are learning
and discovering new methods, and things by which peoples and nations can meet the emergencies of the hour.If this cannot be made into a better world after all the tragic sacrifices that are now being made all over the globe then this war will have been fought in vain.It is digging in to a problem that saves it. Putting one's thoughts well as all of one's energy. Nothing
of any consequence can come out
by enthusiasm and heart into it, as the strokes and unplanned methods. It is the digging in—deeper and deeper—until the light appears and new revelations result.Whether the light that the weeds along the roadside, or the music of a native harvest, could some day
be put to valuable, and life-saving good and to the efficient use of the many phases of business and commerce? The very air that we breathe is being used in combination with other elements!Vision is being born anew in mind, all over the world. Let us hope and pray that it will forever
put an end to all war—substituting love for hate!Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "An Anchorage."

Democrats Lose Working Control Of The Congress

NEW ATTITUDE
MAY DEVELOP
TOWARD WAR

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—For political legislative purposes, the
New Deal lost control of Congress
in Tuesday's elections although the Democratic party maintained a bare majority with 216 House seats and a larger margin in the Senate with 56 members.While late returns in a few closely contested races held the possibility of slight increases in these majorities, there remained little doubt that Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats could control legislation in either body any time they chose to unite.This was especially true in the House, where the 208 seats already clinched by the Republicans gave them their largest representation
since the last days of the Hoover administration in 1931. The bloc of Democratic members who often vote
against New Deal proposals there
is such that a coalition could effect
a substantial working majority of any controversial legislation.Democrats Name 15 Senators.
In the Senate, the Democrats
elected 15, to combine with 41 hold-
overs for a total of 56, seven above
the 49 necessary for control. They appeared likely to make their total
57 since Senator James E. Murray,
Democrat, was leading his Republican opponent, Wellington D. Rankin, in Montana.This possible eight-vote margin for the Democrats, however, would leave the out-and-out new dealers
in the minority any time five or a dozen or more majority party members who have been critical of administration policies elected to go along with a solid Republican lineup on some issue.The effect of this realignment was expected to result in sharpening
Congress' critical attitude toward conduct of the war, its possible rejection of any more social reform
legislation for the duration, and the
strengthening of demands for stricter legislative control of the operations of such agencies as the office of price administration.President Roosevelt might well meet the changed situation by acting more frequently in an executive
capacity, instead of setting in motion the relatively slower and less certain legislative machinery.New under-arm

PICKET PARTY

Los Angeles—For two years the AFL Teamsters and Laundry workers union have been picketing Carroll C. Craig's laundry. On the second anniversary Craig put two candles on a cake and offered it to the three pickets. Two backed away, the third grinned.
None tasted the cake.

TURN ABOUT

Marlin, Tex.—Jack Brothers, who heads Marlin's sugar rationing board, was sorry he had to turn down his old friend, Brown Bratton. Bratton needed extra sugar for his soda fountain. Now Brothers knows he won't have much luck getting extra gasoline.
Bratton is head of the gas rationing board.

PIGGY BANKERS NOTE:

Chicago—Mrs. Nellie Taylor
Ross, director of the U.S. mint, advocates a nationwide slaughter-or, at least, vigorous shaking-of piggy banks. She told a group of women here the conversion of piggy banks into warbonds and stamps would "give a big push to the Allied efforts to defeat the Germans and Japs.
Forty pennies put back into circulation by each of the nation's families would equal the mint's entire output of one-cent pieces in 1941, she said, and the copper used in the coins would make 1,250,000 shells for big guns.

BUSY BEE

Raymondville, Tex.—The busy little bee won't rest this winter—
the government is putting the bee on him. Because beeswax is needed for explosives and honey is needed as a sugar substitute, northern bees are being wintered here so they can work the year around. R. D. Jenkins of Mayville, N. D., has brought 1,500 swarms, and will bring 500 more.

PROPOSALS ARE BEING STUDIED

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—Labor-opposed proposals for compulsory work-or-fight legislation took the foreground of congressional consideration today as the first major post-election problem.The Senate Military committee called on two government officials, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Rear Admiral Emory S. Land of the Maritime commission, to state their attitudes toward four pending manpower bills intended to mobilize war factory and farm workers, as well as fighters.With President Roosevelt remaining non-committal on the administration attitude at this time, except that 1943 manpower needs are under study, the proposals would, in various forms, authorize the President to draft men for industry and agriculture as well as for the armed services.

Organized labor already was on record as flatly opposed to a national service act at this time. Instead, spokesmen for the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations have endorsed a plan before the Senate Labor committee for a reorganization of the federal procurement, production and manpower agencies under a new central planning office.As Van A. Bittner, of the CIO's United Steel Workers union, defied it to a labor subcommittee yesterday, the problem is a "planning matter" of "gearing industrial and manpower resources into a nationwide war production machine." Advocating the continued voluntary recruitment and transfer of labor, he said "you do not eliminate planlessness by a labor draft or passing a law."The subcommittee suspended its hearings until tomorrow, when Chairman Pepper (D-Fla.) an-nounced that Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, Dr. H. N.
Hundesen, president of the Chicago
Board of Health, and Henry Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, would be heard.Pittsburgh, Nov. 5 (AP) — Five Pittsburgh men charged with writing numbers were sentenced to prison in criminal court yesterday and four of them were fined $50 to $400. A sixth defendant now in the Army, was given a suspended sentence.Men, Women! Old at

Battle Of Gettysburg Graphically Depicted In Notes Of Dr. John W. C. O'Neal

CHANGING TIDE OF ENCOUNTER
HERE RELATED

One of the visiting lists of the late Dr. John W. C. O'Neal displayed at the meeting of the Adams County Historical society Tuesday evening contained a newspaper account of the three-day battle of Gettysburg.

Dr. Frederick Tilberg, president of the society, explained that the story as found in the doctor's book was written by a reporter who was on the field at the time of the engagement. The story appeared in a newspaper in the Scranton region.

Among the excerpts read by President Tilberg were the following:

July 1, 10 a. m.
"Heavy fighting has been going on for an hour past. The firing seems to be in the direction of McPherson's woods, where Buford's cavalry has been picketing since yesterday. It is rumored that Hill's corps of Lee's army camped at Cashtown (six miles from here) last night."

July 1, 11:00 a. m.
"Gen. Reynolds, commanding the first corps army of Potomac, has just been killed. His body was brought into town in an ambulance. He was shot through the head."

July 1, 12:30 p. m.
"Gen. Howard has passed through to the front. The Eleventh corps is now coming up. It is difficult to get reliable news from the front, but it is believed that our troops are holding their own. Gen. Doubleday has been in command since Reynolds fell."

July 1, 5:30 p. m.
"The town of Gettysburg is now in the hands of the enemy, and I send this dispatch by messenger to Two Taverns. Our troops are forming on Cemetery Hill."

July 1, 10 p. m.
"I have just learned that the losses of the First and Eleventh corps have been awful. It is now understood that all of Hill's and Ewell's corps of Lee's army were on the field and outnumbered our men two to one. x x x"

July 2, 1 a. m.
"Gen. Meade has just arrived. The second corps, Third and Fifth corps are now coming up. All feel that a great battle will be fought here in the morning."

July 2, 6 a. m.
"Gen. Meade has determined to fight here. All our troops, except the Sixth corps, are now up. The different corps as they arrived upon the field were placed in position by General Meade in person. All is quiet at this hour. We can see the enemy in the streets of the town and their main line of battery about a mile distant. We occupy the high ground called Seminary Ridge. We can plainly see them putting their artillery in position. Our line extends from the Cemetery to Culp's Hill on the right, and our left reaches out towards Sherfy's farm and Devil's Den. Confidence is once more restored and great hopes expressed that we may today compensate by a victory of our defeat of yesterday."

July 2, 7 p. m.
"The day is drawing to a close, but the fighting still continues without intermission. Since shortly after 3 o'clock there has been a continual roar of artillery and musketry. I learn that we have been driven back from our advanced position at Sherfy's peach orchard, but that we have succeeded in driving the rebels from Little Round Top, and our troops now occupy that important position. Our losses have been very heavy, especially in the Third corps."

July 2, 7:30 p. m.
"I just now learn that Gen. Sickles has lost a leg."

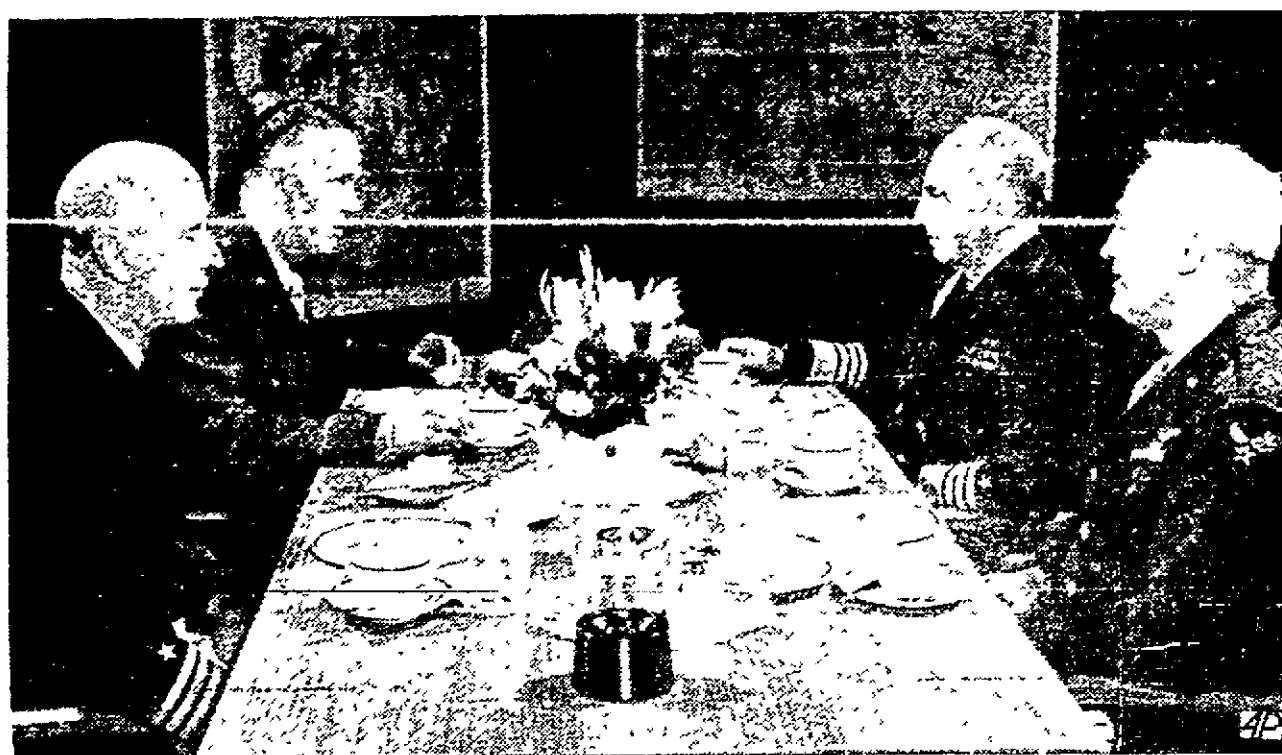

July 2, midnight
"The day is over and I might as well admit that the situation is grave. The fighting since 3 o'clock has been of the most sanguinary character, and our losses appalling. x x x Our army has not lost heart, but it must be confessed that the situation is critical."

July 3, 11 a. m.
"Greet cheering is heard mingled with the firing on Culp's Hill. It is believed that our men are gaining ground."

July 3, 3:15 p. m.
"A great attack is now being made on our left centre by a powerful column of rebels. We can see them advancing in hosts. Their lines are half a mile in length. They have a mile to march before they strike our lines. (This action was Pickett's charge.)"

July 3, 4:30 p. m.
"We have won a great victory. The fight is over and the rebel lines hurled back in wild disorder. Long-

Army, Navy Chiefs Confer At Lunch

street's whole corps seem to have been swept away by our fire. The field is covered with rebel dead. Wild cheers ring out from every part of our lines. Thousands of rebel prisoners are being brought in. Sheaves of battle flags and thousands of small arms are being gathered in by our men. The rejoicing among our men is indescribable."

July 3, 5 p. m.
"Our victory is more complete than we could dare to hope for. An immense column of the enemy, at least 20,000 strong, attacked our left centre and were utterly destroyed by our fire. The column consisted of the greater part of Longstreet's corps, and but few of them are left. . . ."

July 3, 10 p. m.
"... Everything is now quiet, and profound silence reigns over the field, except the moans of the wounded and the rattling of the ambulances. The firing has entirely ceased. It is believed that the enemy will at once abandon their present position and march south, but the morning will tell. Not a light is visible along the enemy's line, but sounds indicating moving trains or artillery are distinctly audible. It is likely that they are already retreating. It is hardly possible to get any further information tonight. Every one is worn out and exhausted by the three past days' fatigue and fighting. The men are too tired even to cheer and have settled down in sleep. Whole brigades are lying in line of battle sound asleep, the dead and the living mingled together. Tomorrow we can see the full extent of our victory."

Born in Virginia
Doctor O'Neal was born in Fairfax county, Virginia, April 21, 1821, of Irish and American parentage. His classical and literary education was obtained at Pennsylvania (Gettysburg) college. His medical studies were pursued under the private tutorship of Dr. John Swope, of

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

GEORGE M. COHAN DIES; NOTED FOR SONG AND DANCE

By MARK BARRON
New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—George M. Cohan, greatest song and dance man of them all, died at 5 a. m.

His death came just as he would have had it, for the only people around Times Square were either actors on their way home or policemen and air raid wardens on their patrols. Those were the people he knew best.

Cohan, seriously ill for a year, died peacefully in his Fifth Avenue home, close beside the Central park path where he used to take long walks every day. He was 64 years old, but even a month ago he seemed to be recovering from his illness and was actively planning to return to the stage and to service as air raid warden.

Because of this liking for long walks in Central park Cohan liked people, the kind who ask you for a dime for a cup of coffee, and he liked pigeons, the kind which he swooped down on the park walk for a peanut. So in 1933 he produced a play called "Pigeons and People" which fictionalized that philosophy. In his real life he carried it on, for there were many actors and actresses who remained on his payroll long after they had ceased appearing in his shows.

With him when he died were his wife, Mrs. Agnes Cohan, his daughters, Mrs. George Ronkin, and Helen and Gertrude Cohan, and his first friend, Gene Buck.

Cohan, who called himself "a song and dance man," was just that and king of them all. Since he was seven years old he sang and danced on the stage.

His continuous efforts for American patriotism—the nearly always had an American flag waving in his many shows—received official recognition when President Roosevelt awarded him the Congressional medal for his "outstanding contributions to the American spirit."

Before he died Cohan had, among the thousands of other tributes paid him, the privilege of seeing his own life in pictures. This was in the movie of "Yankee Doodle Dandy" and Cohan picked James Cagney to play the role of Cohan. Too, in the picture, he heard some of his best known songs including "Over There," "It's a Grand Old Flag" and "Forty Five Minutes From Broadway."

When "Yankee Doodle Dandy" had its premiere on Broadway the tickets of admission were War Savings Bonds, some of the seats selling for as much as $25.00 and when the gross was added there were $5,500.00 bonds sold.

So Mr. Cohan died with the comfort of knowing that he had achieved the largest box office business in theatrical history and that he had done it for his country.

Here's what this farmer found out when he needed CASH . . .

He went into the Personal Finance Co. for a loan and was surprised to find they knew so much about the problems a farmer is up against.

Moreover, he discovered that down at Personal they do business his way. They loan money on signature, furniture or auto. He didn't have to ask someone else to sign with him and no one else knew he was getting a loan from them.

Sensible Monthly Payments $10.00 a month repays a $100 loan in full in 12 months. Loans for other amounts are in proportion.

Probe Chemical Fire Injuring 200 Persons

Philadelphia, Nov. 5 (AP)—FBI agents and military authorities began inquiries today to determine the origin of a fire which caused burns to 200 firemen and coast guardsmen and destroyed large stores of chemicals and baled cotton in a 72-year-old warehouse on the Delaware river waterfront.

Joseph B. Cusick, the warehouse manager, attributed the blaze to spontaneous combustion.

Spattering acid showered the area during the four-hour blaze and nearly every fire fighter at the scene received minor burns. None was hurt seriously.

Physicians said that fumes would have caused serious lung troubles throughout the waterfront section if the flames had reached drums of cyanide stored in the basement. The fire broke out during the noon hour yesterday and a crush of fire apparatus seriously disrupted traffic.

Santo, the largest island of the New Hebrides, is 64 miles long and 32 miles wide.

for "Excellent" service on the War Production Front

Over our plants in York, Pennsylvania, now wave these distinguished red, white and blue pennants—proud symbols of outstanding performance in war production. Our employees are wearing the "E" insignia as their personal badge of honor.

Since 1882 York Safes and Vaults have been famous the world over. Many months before Pearl Harbor, guns and ammunition made by York were in the battle for democracy on every front. York Safe and Lock received the first ordnance contract given to a private enterprise since World War I.

Night and day York men and machines are turning out equipment for our fighting forces. Night and day men and management are giving all they've got to the war effort. Skill, speed, unselfish devotion to the vital job at hand... plus the good old unbeatable American spirit... these are the qualities that have won for this organization the coveted ARMY-NAVY award.

We're proud of our "E" flag and of the achievement that it symbolizes. We're telling the world—including Hitler and Hirohito—that we intend to merit it... and then some!

WE LIKE TO EAT TOO!

In some types of stores, it makes no difference to the manager or clerk whether you buy at his store or not. There is no direct personal obligation between store and customer. Not so with home-type of stores like ours. If nobody buys our goods, we have no other store to move to. We go out of business. We don't eat. But since we like to eat just as you do, it behooves us to pay more attention to your needs, to try harder to please you, so we can stay in business and make a living. Isn't this worth thinking about now, when so many things are short and you cannot get all of everything you want?

HOUSEHOLDS OF 2 AND 3 PERSONS LEAD IN STATE

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Census Bureau reported there were 2,515,244 households in Pennsylvania in 1930, approximately half of which were occupied by families of more than three persons. There were more two and three person households in the state than in any other state. The two-person homes numbered 558,043, while three-person households numbered 539,578. One-person households accounted for 6.4 per cent of the total, or 160,227.

The number of households occupied by larger families decreased proportionately as the groups increased in size. The range was from 472,614 households occupied by four-person groups to 20,874 homes of 11 persons or more.

The average household contained 3.16 persons. The median for homes occupied by white persons was 3.47, and for those occupied by non-whites, 3.29 persons.

Households of home owners were somewhat larger than those of tenants. The median for home owners being 3.55 persons, and for tenants, 3.49 persons. Small households of one, two, or three persons were reported for 52.3 per cent of the tenant-occupied dwelling units, as compared with 48.9 per cent of the owner-occupied units.

More than one-tenth of the homes had more than one person for each room.

More room crowding occurred in the tenant than in the owner homes. More than one person for each room was reported for 19.2 per cent of the tenants and for 10.7 per cent of the owners; and 0.5 per cent of the owners, compared with 1.6 per cent of the tenants, were reported as having more than two persons per room.

Probe Chemical Fire Injuring 200 Persons

Philadelphia, Nov. 5 (AP)—FBI agents and military authorities began inquiries today to determine the origin of a fire which caused burns to 200 firemen and coast guardsmen and destroyed large stores of chemicals and baled cotton in a 72-year-old warehouse on the Delaware river waterfront.

Joseph B. Cusick, the warehouse manager, attributed the blaze to spontaneous combustion.

Spattering acid showered the area during the four-hour blaze and nearly every fire fighter at the scene received minor burns. None was hurt seriously.

Physicians said that fumes would have caused serious lung troubles throughout the waterfront section if the flames had reached drums of cyanide stored in the basement. The fire broke out during the noon hour yesterday and a crush of fire apparatus seriously disrupted traffic.
